DIES AT A WEDDING

John Pryor Stricken with Heart Disease at Church.

NEWS HELD FROM THE BRIDE

Day's Record on the Police Blotter Shows Five Victims of Accidents and Sudden Fatalities—Colored Man Drowns in River—Henry Becker Expires While Working at Barn.

The record on the police blotter at headquarters yesterday shows a long chapter of accidents and violent deaths.

Five persons died suddenly, one by inhaling illuminating gas with suicidal intent, one by inhaling illuminating gas by accident, one by drowning, and two dropped dead of affections of the heart.

John Pryor, forty-five years old, of 310 Tenth street southeast, while standing on the steps of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Third and A streets southeast, where he had gone to attend the wedding of Miss Gertrude Nacey, clutched his breast and fell heavily to the sidewalk, just as the church organ struck up the familiar notes of the Lohengrin "Wedding March."

When Pryor suddenly fell, a hurry call was sent for a physician and for an ambulance. Life was extinct, however, when both the Casualty Hospital ambulance and the Fifth precinct patrol arrived, and the remains were sent to the morgue.

Dr. William Levering Devries, the officiating clergyman, asked all aware of the sad occurrence to keep the fact from the bride and groom, and the happy couple departed on their honeymoon oblivious of the fact that grim death stood at the church door during the wedding ceremony.

Coroner Nevitt, after viewing the remains, issued a certificate of death from valvular disease of the heart. Mr. Pryor had been working long for the disease for some time and had been under the care of Dr. Friederich.

Born in Philadelphia, he came to this city fifteen years ago, obtaining employment in the Government Printing Office. His wife and daughter, Mrs. Dowling, of Pittsburgh, Pa., survive him. No funeral arrangements have yet been made, but it was said last night that the funeral will probably be held Saturday.

Henry Becker, fifty-five years old, of 718 Seventh street northwest, an employee of the Capital Traction Company, dropped dead in the car barn, at Fourteenth and Park streets northwest, about 5:15 o'clock while about his daily work. The coroner's office was notified, and the remains taken to the morgue.

A certificate of death from natural causes was given. Charles Barnes, colored, thirty years old, of 414 Twenty-first street northwest, fell into the river at the foot of Jefferson street northwest about 7:30 o'clock last night and was drowned. The police were notified, and friends made a futile endeavor to recover the body. It was recovered by the harbor police and sent to the morgue. The coroner will hold an inquest this morning.

Other Deaths Reported. Distracted because he could not effect a reconciliation with his wife, from whom he had recently become estranged, William W. Skinner, seventy years old, who served in Stonewall Jackson's brigade during the civil war, committed suicide early yesterday morning. His body was discovered by Mrs. E. W. Feitner, the landlady of a lodging house at 301 E street northwest, where he had gone after the estrangement. His wife lives at 423 Third street northwest.

Mr. Skinner had become estranged from his wife several times previously, but each time a reconciliation had been effected. It is said that Skinner was fond of strong drink, and that protracted sprees were the cause of frequent separations.

Frederick Steigelman, sixty-three, a resident of Vicksburg, Miss., was also found dead early yesterday morning at the home of E. D. Frank, 112 Twenty-fifth street northwest. Death was due to asphyxiation by illuminating gas. Coroner Nevitt gave a certificate of accidental death.

Mr. Steigelman, it was stated, was a large planter and was in this city on business. Suicide is not suspected.

Other numbers of the programme were "Sunshine," by the girls' chorus; "Request and Courage," by the boys' chorus; and "Dedication," by a double chorus of boys and girls.

Miss Katherine Faeth, of Baltimore, sang three German songs. "Two Grenadiers" was then rendered by the boys' chorus, followed by "Who Is Sylvia," by the chorus of girls.

When the guests left the auditorium, more joy awaited them in the form of a lawn fete on the spreading green in front of the school. Japanese lanterns shed an ethereal glow over the many booths and tables, where ice cream and other dainty morsels were served by pretty girls in Alsatian costumes. Music was furnished by the Port Myer Band.

A large sightseeing automobile had been hired for the purpose of taking sightseers on a tour in the vicinity of the high school, that they might appreciate its beauties by moonlight.

Enough money was taken in to sustain athletics during the coming fall.

NEWS CUT SHORT FOR BUSY READERS

The grand jury yesterday returned indictments against Edward Richards, Edward Matthews, alias Edward Schinck, and George Becker for housebreaking and larceny. It is alleged that these men broke into the cabin of a yacht owned by Edward M. Cleary, abstracting therefrom a number of articles of value, and finally stealing the yacht.

William Hutchinson, before Justice Stafford, yesterday withdrew his plea of not guilty to an indictment of robbery and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to six months in the workhouse.

A jury in Justice Stafford's court yesterday rendered a verdict of guilty in the case of Matthew P. Roche on the charge of embezzlement. The verdict was accompanied with a recommendation of mercy to the court. Motion for a new trial was made, and the ball was fixed at $1,500, but in default of a bondsman forthcoming, Roche was taken to the jail.

Roche, who had been a clerk for Samuel J. Masters, a local loan broker, was accused of embezzling about $700.

Arthur Welsh, colored, was found guilty yesterday of assault with a dangerous weapon, of simple assault, and housebreaking. He was remanded for sentence.

A jury in Justice Barnard's court yesterday adjudged the following named persons to be of unsound mind: Imogene Morrow, Julius T. Miller, Valeria Loeffler, Emma S. Dalby, Agnes Dyer, William Donaldson, and John Brown. Wellington Hardy and Charles E. Bushnell were adjudged to be of sound mind.

MOORE ESTATE SHRINKS.

Late Surgeon General's Property Accounted for by Widow.

The will of John Moore, late surgeon general of the United States army, dated December 13, 1893, was filed for probate yesterday. By its terms the following bequests are made: To his niece, Mary Kelly, of Bloomington, Ill., $2,900; to Edith, child of his niece, Mrs. John Trumble, $500; to the wife of his nephew, John R. Moore, for the benefit of her only child, $500; to his granddaughter, Rea Thompson, $500; to his wife, Mrs. Mary J. Moore, seventeen Mexican Central Railroad bonds, valued at $17,000; forty-eight shares of stock of the First National Bank of Vancouver, Wash., $4,800, and all his personal property.

Mrs. Moore, the widow of the testator, yesterday filed a petition asking for letters testamentary and stating that the seventeen bonds of the Mexican Central passed out of the ownership of her husband before his death, and that the forty-eight shares of bank stock had become a portion of the estate of the bank.

Attorney William Henry Dennis appears for Mrs. Moore.

Mary Smith, by her will, dated May 28, 1903, and filed for probate yesterday, names her niece, Bridget O'Neill, of Bladenburg, Md., as executrix, also giving her the rest of her estate after paying the following legacies: To Margaret Flynn, a sister of the deceased, $500; to a nephew, William Newby, $500; to her niece, Catherine Clark, $500; to Ann Dunnigan, $500; to Rev. Father O'Connell, of St. Stephen's Church, $500.

The will of the late Gen. George W. Balloch, dated April 21, 1900, was offered for probate yesterday. His entire estate is devised to his daughter, Mrs. May Lincoln Safford. His sons, George S. Balloch and Edward A. Balloch, are named as executors.

Missouri Bartle and Sarah Norwood Bartle, both daughters of Mrs. John Bartle, are named as sole beneficiaries and executors of the will of latter, dated March 5, 1900, and offered for probate yesterday.

MUSICAL AT WESTERN HIGH.

Entertainment Nets Funds for Athletic Association.

The May musicale at the Western High School was held last night for the purpose of replenishing the coffers of the athletic association.

An attractive programme, with Miss Corrie Sheffer, of New York, formerly of Holland, as the main feature, was rendered before a large and enthusiastic audience. Miss Sheffer, assisted by Miss Honora Blakely at the piano, and attired in the costume of a Dutch peasant girl, played "Folk Songs of Holland" on the violin. This is Miss Sheffer's second appearance in this country, the first time being when she played the same songs before President and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House in April.

Other numbers of the programme were "Sunshine," by the girls' chorus; "Request and Courage," by the boys' chorus; and "Dedication," by a double chorus of boys and girls.

Miss Katherine Faeth, of Baltimore, sang three German songs. "Two Grenadiers" was then rendered by the boys' chorus, followed by "Who Is Sylvia," by the chorus of girls.

When the guests left the auditorium, more joy awaited them in the form of a lawn fete on the spreading green in front of the school. Japanese lanterns shed an ethereal glow over the many booths and tables, where ice cream and other dainty morsels were served by pretty girls in Alsatian costumes. DIVORCE REFUSED TRIBBY.

Court Holds Plaintiff Fails to Make Case.

Chief Justice Claiborne, after spending the entire day yesterday in hearing the case, decided that Charles E. Tribby, who had entered suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Katherine S. Tribby, had not made out a case. The husband's petition was dismissed. The plea for divorce was on statutory grounds. Attorneys Gordon & Gordon and Tracy L. Jeffords appeared for Mrs. Tribby.

Mrs. Miller, through attorney Wilton J. Lambert, yesterday began suit against her husband, John Miller, of 307 N street northwest for maintenance and support and permanent alimony. They were married February 29, 1902, and Mrs. Miller alleges that her husband has never contributed to her support.

CAR HITS PATROL WAGON.

Horse So Badly Hurt He Is Shot. Policemen Are Injured.

Policemen J. H. Gibson and L. Harbin were painfully injured in a collision between the Second precinct patrol wagon and a Seventh street car at Seventh and N streets yesterday morning. The wagon was on an emergency run, taking Mary Budd, who had been seriously burned, to the hospital. "Charlie," the favorite horse of the police department, received a broken leg, and had to be shot. His death was the cause of genuine sorrow, particularly at the Second precinct.

Policeman Gibson received several scalp wounds and possibly a fracture of the skull. He will recover. Policeman Harbin was not seriously hurt, and Mary Budd also escaped further injury. Both she and Policeman Gibson were hurried to Freedmen's Hospital.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

Two bids were received by the supervising architect of the Treasury for the extension of the customs house at Georgetown. That of W. E. Mooney was $8,785, and that of William P. Lipscomb & Co. $9,580. Both were considered too high and both were rejected.

The Potomac Boat Club has purchased property from Judge Charles Campbell, of Cambridge, Ohio, near the Aqueduct Bridge, paying $150 a square foot. On this site it is the intention of the club to erect a three-story club house, to cost about $17,000. The new building will be nearly a half mile west of the old one. The site of the old club house at the foot of Thirty-second street was recently sold to the Breeman Construction Company. During the interval of building the Potomac will occupy the boat house of the Georgetown University Club. The committee having the building operations in charge is composed of E. Richard Gash, John J. Nolan, Claude R. Zappone, Thomas J. Kinke, Jr., Clarence A. Hecox, and John Hilday Doyle.

Special attention is called to twelve semi-detached houses at 1944 to 1964 Park road, which will be open to-day for inspection by prospective homeowners. George J. Worthington is sales agent for these houses, and claims for them special advantages in the way of light and air and other surroundings which will specially appeal to his patrons. The accessibility of these houses to the city is another strong point made in their favor, the location being near the terminus of the Connecticut avenue car line, within about fifteen minutes ride of the heart of the city.

Frank Steele and Warren G. Eynon have joined the sales forces of the real estate corporation of Williges, Gibbs & Daniel, and will hereafter be identified with the business of that firm. Mr. Steele is the retiring member of the firm of Giddings & Steele, and has long been identified with the business community of Washington and brings to his new connection wide experience and ability. Mr. Eynon has for the past ten years been employed in a confidential capacity in the secretary's office at the Smithsonian Institution, and is also well and favorably known.

JUNE'S PAST PERFORMANCES.

Weather Man Issues "Dope Sheet" Covering Thirty-six Years.

According to the Weather Bureau, records for the last thirty-six years, the latest date of killing frost was May 11, 1906, and there are many people who are of the opinion that the present month has all previous ones beaten when it comes to really bad weather.

The report issued calls attention to the sort of weather that has been dealt out in June, and for the past three dozen years. It shows that the coldest June was in 1902, when the average was sixty-seven degrees; the warmest was in 1874, when the average was seventy-eight, which may be used as a basis for an argument by some of the pessimistic to prove that the weather is each year growing colder. The lowest temperature in June was in 1897, when the mercury touched forty-three degrees.

Regarding frosts, the Weather Bureau records show that the latest "killing" frost occurred on May 11, 1906, and that the average date for the latest killing frosts is on April 7. The earliest date on which such frosts occurred in autumn was October 2, 1896, and the average is October 21.

The average precipitation for June is 4.10 inches, and the greatest was on June 22, 1886, when the rainfall for twenty-four hours was 4.16 inches. The average number of clear days is 10; of partly cloudy days, 13; cloudy days, 7.

The prevailing winds are from the south, and the average velocity is six miles an hour. The highest wind was forty-eight miles an hour, from the northwest, on June 26, 1897.

MRS. FRANK LEECH DEAD.

Transfusion of Blood Fails to Save Washington Woman.

In spite of the sacrifice of a nurse, who permitted a transfusion of blood from her veins to that of her patient, Mrs. Florence B. Leech, wife of Dr. Frank Leech, 118 Rhode Island avenue, died early yesterday morning at the Union Protestant Hospital, in Baltimore, where she had been a patient about two weeks.

Dr. J. T. M. Finney performed the operation permitting the transfusion, and the nurse demanded that her name be kept secret before she would make the sacrifice. The effort prolonged the patient's life but a few hours.

Mrs. Leech, who was thirty-one years old, is survived by her husband and two small children. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon from the home of Mrs. Leech's mother, 108 O street northwest.
